No payment shall be delayed because of the failure of another prime contractor on ~~such the~~ project to complete his contract. 9 established by the terms of the contract. Funds for payment of such the interest on 10 state-owned projects shall be obtained from the current budget of the owning 11 department, institution, or agency. Where a conditional acceptance of a contract exists, 12 and where the owner is retaining a reasonable sum pending correction of such the 13 conditions, punitive interest on such the reasonable sum shall not apply.

14 (b) Within seven days of receipt by the prime contractor of each periodic or final 15 payment, the prime contractor shall pay the subcontractor based on work completed or

20 percent (1½%) per month or fraction thereof on such unpaid balance as may be 21 due month, unless a lower rate is agreed upon on the unpaid balance as may be due.

22 (b1) No retainage on periodic or final payments made by the owner or prime 23 contractor shall be allowed on public construction contracts in which the total project 24 costs are less than three hundred thousand dollars ($300,000). Retainage on periodic or 25 final payments on public construction contracts in which the total project costs are equal 26 to or greater than three hundred thousand dollars ($300,000) is allowed as follows:

27 (1) The owner shall not retain more than five percent (5%) of any periodic 28 payment due a prime contractor.

29 (2) Upon the contractor's satisfactory completion of fifty percent (50%) of 30 the project on schedule, and with the approval of the owner and the 31 architect, engineer, or designer in charge of the project, and the written 32 consent of the contractor's surety, the owner shall, upon the written 33 request of the contractor, release to the contractor one-half (1/2) of the 34 retainage withheld on periodic payments within 15 days of the receipt 35 of the request or receipt of the surety's consent, whichever occurs last.
36 If payment is delayed by more than 15 days, the contractor shall be 37 paid interest, beginning on the 16th day, at the rate of one and one-half 38 percent (1½%) per month, unless a lower rate is agreed upon on the 39 unpaid balance as may be due. No party shall unreasonably withhold 40 consent in any instance where consent is required under this section.

41 (3) When the project is fifty percent (50%) complete, the owner shall not 42 retain any further retainage from periodic payments due the contractor
43 if the contractor continues to perform satisfactorily. If the owner
44 determines the contractor's performance is unsatisfactory, the owner

1 may reinstate retainage for each subsequent periodic payment
2 application as authorized in this subsection up to the maximum amount
3 of five percent (5%). The project shall be deemed fifty percent (50%) 4 complete when the contractor's gross project invoice equals or exceeds 5 fifty percent (50%) of the value of the contract.

6 (4) A subcontract on a contract governed by this section may include a 7 provision for the retainage on periodic payments made by the prime 8 contractor to the subcontractor. However, the percentage of the 9 payment retained: (i) shall be paid to the subcontractor under the same 10 terms and conditions as provided in subdivisions (2) and (3) of this 11 subsection, and (ii) shall not exceed the percentage of retainage on 12 payments made by the owner to the prime contractor. Any percentage 13 of retainage on payments made by the prime contractor to the 14 subcontractor that exceeds the percentage of retainage on payments
15 made by the owner to the prime contractor shall be subject to interest 16 to be paid by the prime contractor to the subcontractor at the rate of 17 one and one-half percent (1½%) per month, unless a lower rate is 18 agreed upon on the unpaid balance as may be due.

19 (5) Within 45 days after any of the following occur, the owner shall 20 release to the contractor all retainage on payments held by the owner: 21 (i) the owner receives a certificate of substantial completion from the 22 architect, engineer, or designer in charge of the project; (ii) a 23 certificate of occupancy is issued; (iii) the owner receives beneficial 24 occupancy of the project as defined in the contract documents; or (iv) a 25 separate usable phase of the project is available for use. However, the 26 owner may retain sufficient funds to secure completion of the project
27 or corrections on any work. If the owner retains funds, the amount 28 retained shall not exceed one and one-half (1½) times the estimated 29 value of the work to be completed or corrected. Any reduction in the 30 amount of the retainage on payments shall be with the consent of the 31 contractor's surety.

32 (6) Any retainage on payments withheld by the owner or contractor shall 33 be deposited in an interest-bearing account and shall be paid to the 34 contractor or subcontractor whose funds have been retained as 35 provided in this section.

36 (7) The existence of any claims against the contractor or any change 37 orders shall not be a basis for delaying the release of any retainage on 38 payments.

39 (b2) Upon the completion and acceptance of each separate building, public work, 40 or other item of work on which a price is stated separately in the contract or can be 41 separately ascertained, payment shall be made in full, including any retainage on 42 payments, less any authorized deductions. However, full payment shall only be made 43 for those trades, including structural steel, piling, caisson, demolition, rough grading, 44 and utility first-tier subcontractors, that have reached one hundred percent (100%)

1 completion of their contract by or before the project is fifty percent (50%) complete.
2 Each bid document shall identify any other trades not listed in this subsection that are 3 also allowed line-item release of retained funds. Each bid document shall also list the 4 inspections required by the owner before accepting the work and any financial 5 information required by the owner to release payment to the trades.

6 (b3) An owner, contractor, or subcontractor's release of retainage on payments as 7 part of a payment in full on a line item of work under subsection (b2) of this section 8 shall not affect any applicable warranties or statutes of limitations on work done by the 9 contractor or subcontractor, and the warranties and statutes of limitations shall not begin 10 to run until the owner receives a certificate of substantial completion from the architect, 11 engineer, or designer in charge of the project, a certificate of occupancy is issued for the 12 project, or the owner receives beneficial occupancy as defined in the contract 13 documents.

14 (b4) The State or any political subdivision of the State may allow contractors to 15 bid on bonded projects with and without retainage on payments.

16 (e) ~~The percentage of retainage on payments made by the prime contractor to the~~ 17 ~~subcontractor shall not exceed the percentage of retainage on payments made by the~~ 18 ~~owner to the prime contractor. Any percentage of retainage on payments made by the~~ 19 ~~prime contractor to the subcontractor that exceeds the percentage of retainage on~~ 20 ~~payments made by the owner to the prime contractor shall be subject to interest to be~~ 21 ~~paid by the prime contractor to the subcontractor at the rate of one percent (1%) per~~ 22 ~~month or fraction thereof.~~

23 (d) Nothing in this section shall prevent the prime contractor at the time of 24 application and certification to the owner from withholding application and certification
25 to the owner for payment to the subcontractor for unsatisfactory job progress; defective 26 construction not remedied; disputed work; third party claims filed or reasonable 27 evidence that claim will be filed; failure of subcontractor to make timely payments for 28 labor, equipment, and materials; damage to prime contractor or another subcontractor; 29 reasonable evidence that subcontract cannot be completed for the unpaid balance of the 30 subcontract sum; or a reasonable amount for retainage not to exceed the initial 31 percentage retained by the owner.

32 (e) The terms of a construction contract under this Article shall not materially 33 alter the rights of a contractor, subcontractor, or a material supplier to receive prompt 34 and timely payment as provided in this section and in G.S. 22C-3.

35 (f) In any suit brought or defended under this section or G.S. 22-3, the presiding
36 judge may award reasonable attorneys' fees to the attorney representing the prevailing 37 party. Attorneys' fees shall be taxed as part of the court costs and shall be payable to the 38 prevailing party upon a finding that payments were retained in violation of this section.
39 For purposes of this section, the term 'prevailing party' means a party plaintiff or a third-40 party plaintiff who obtains a judgment of at least fifty percent (50%) of the monetary 41 amount sought in the claim or is a party defendant or third-party defendant against 42 whom a claim is asserted that results in a judgment of less than fifty percent (50%) of 43 the amount sought in the claim. Notwithstanding the provisions of this subsection, if an 44 offer of judgment is served in accordance with G.S. 1A-1, Rule 68, the term 'prevailing

1 party' means an offeree who obtains a judgment in an amount more favorable than the 2 last offer or is an offeror against whom judgment is rendered in an amount less 3 favorable than the last offer."
